

COAL OPERATORS OFFER EXPECTED TO AVOID STRIKE

Strong Belief That Peace Is In Sight Pervades Joint Conference.

COMPROMISE WAGE RAISE MAY COME

Anthracite Miners Continue To Press Demands For More Money.

Atlantic City, Aug. 21.—With a strong belief pervading conference circles that the "operators are about to offer something which will prevent a strike," representatives of the anthracite miners and operators today went into the second session of their resumed negotiations in an effort to effect peace in the anthracite field before the present wage agreement expires Aug. 31.

Samuel D. Werriner, chief spokesman for the operators, continued to maintain the attitude that the anthracite industry cannot stand a wage increase, but despite his view the report was prevalent that the employees are prepared to suggest a compromise advance in wages.

It was expected, however, that the operators offer will fall considerably below the 20 per cent increase demanded by the miners.

Armed with documents and data to substantiate their claim that the mine workers are entitled to the 20 per cent increase for contract miners and $2 a day for day workers, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America and other union officials were ready to fight out "demand number two," as they call it. The check off issue temporarily has been put in the background.

"Yesterday the operators gave us no encouragement in our wage demand," Lewis said, "and today we will continue to press for its settlement in order to take up the other demands that must be disposed of before an agreement is effected."

In support of their resistance of the wage demand, Werriner and the other operators representatives had amassed an array of figures to show that concession to the demand as propounded by the miners would add $2 a ton to the cost of anthracite to the consumer and would represent a cost to the employers of $300,000,000.

The government is maintaining an intense interest in the negotiations. In addition to the daily report sent out to the United States coal commission, an agent of the department of justice is said to be watching the proceedings and making detailed reports.

VIOLATES PAROLE FROM MANSFIELD

Reformatory Officer Will Investigate Walter Evans' Behavior.

Walter Evans, Salem boy who has been taken into custody on charges of burglary, was taken to Lisbon Monday by local officers, where he will be held in the county jail until an official of the Mansfield reformatory arrives here to conduct an investigation of the boy's recent behavior.

About one month ago Evans was released from the Mansfield reformatory on parole, owing to good behavior during his confinement to that institution.

Burglarizing of Salem homes and stores during the last few weeks caused suspicion to point to the lad and after a series of robberies committed in northside homes here Saturday night officers Bryn and McVain placed the lad under arrest, holding him on suspicion.

At the city jail a gold watch and a small amount of money were found in his possession which he admitted having stolen from the home of Wallace Calladine, Aug. 15. After having made this admission he refused to talk and all efforts of local officials to secure a confession or some reference to the recent thefts from the boy were futile.

The Mansfield authority is expected to arrive in Lisbon soon and the lad will be given a hearing out of court. It is possible that he will be returned to the Mansfield reformatory.

Firemen Will Unite In Picnic At Minerva

Salem firemen will unite with the firemen of Alliance, Canton and perhaps other nearby towns when the firefighters hold their annual picnic at Minerva park Aug. 24 and 25.

Two days have been set for the occasion so that one squadron may attend one day and the remaining men of the force the next day.

Chief Malloy stated Monday afternoon that the Salem firemen will arrange to participate in the affair.

Damascus Rd. Sends Horseshoe Pitchers

A group of horseshoe pitchers from Damascus road will pitch Wednesday night at 6 o'clock at Reilly field against some of the men who have been playing at the field. Reilly field men are asked to come out promptly at 6 o'clock.

She Asks $1,000,000 From Stepson

Mrs. W. E. D. Stokes.

Memories of the sensational divorce suit filed in New York city by W. E. D. Stokes, multi-millionaire hotel owner and sportsman, victim of the famous "shooting show girls" a few years ago, against his beautiful wife, Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, have been revived by Mrs. Stokes' suit for $1,000,000 against her stepson, W. E. D. ("Weddie") Stokes, Jr., filed in Chicago. In his divorce suit Stokes mentioned his own son as a co-defendant, among many others. Later he withdrew the charge, but pressed the others and lost in the New York courts. Young Stokes, however, is said to have written a letter to his father admitting indiscretions with his stepmother, and this letter is the basis of the suit. Mrs. Stokes is now living in Denver, Colo.

NAME FOREST PAXSON JUNIOR TOWN MAYOR

Children's Work At Chautauqua Takes On Much Color And Interest For Boys And Girls—Form Junior Town

The children's work at the chautauqua, under the supervision of Miss Mary Morgan of Columbus, is taking on much color and interest among the boys and girls of Salem. A Junior town has been organized, with the tent as the town and the boys and girls as citizens.

At a meeting Tuesday morning the following officers were elected: Mayor, Forest Paxson town clerk, Inez Barkley; law and order committee: Gerald Harshman, Eloise Gribby, John Sidney; health committee: Harold Ashend, Elizabeth Riddle; service committee: Ray Vincent, Louise Calkins; police officers: Glenn Jones, chief; Kenneth Johnson and Kenneth Kirby, officers.

Later in the week the children will present a program and a kite contest for boys is another feature of the Junior chautauqua.

The general program for tomorrow is more attractive. Morning hour lecture will be given by Prof. B. A. Arneson of Ohio Wesleyan university.

One of the most talented group of musicians will be heard when the Zedeler Symphonie orchestra appears tomorrow afternoon and night. Mr. Zedeler is regarded as one of the leading cellists of the country. He has surrounded himself with an unusually talented group of musicians. The instrumentation is: cello, first and second violin, reed organ and piano. Both programs will feature the music of the masters presented in a most tasteful manner.

Following the music in the evening Huber W. Hurt will lecture on the subject, "The New Industrial Day." Mr. Hurt has spent much time in personal research and his lecture will prove the results of this intimate study of industrial and social problems.

The chautauqua crew this year is of the same high type as in past years. Harold Shreve of Akron, is the property man. He is serving in his third year with the chautauqua. Raymond Horton of Weston, W. Va., is the electrician. Ga'eann is John Timmins of Cameron, W. Va. All these boys are out this summer with the crew as a means of financing their way in college.

Unique Ceremony As Mutes Wed

Catlettsburg, Ky., Aug. 21.—Clarence G. Henderson, 25, and Miss Ava Peck, both deaf and dumb, were a happily married couple today following one of the most unique marriage ceremonies on record here.

When Henderson applied for a license, the county clerk pointed to each question on the form and the prospective groom wrote his answer on a scratch pad.

Similarly, the minister performing the ceremony permitted the couple to read the service from his manual. When the strange ceremony was completed the groom scratched away on his pad a minute then handed it to the minister. It read: "I will be good to my wife."

Mail Carriers Given Half Holiday Every Saturday Afternoon

While the plan of giving all mail carriers a weekly half holiday is given a trial in Salem, there will be no residence mail delivery on Saturday afternoons.

The business section deliveries will be taken care of, the mail being dispatched promptly upon its arrival at the local offices.

The half holiday plan is not observed by all cities but the government announces that it will recognize the postmen's privilege to the half day's rest if matters in the individual offices can be suitably arranged.

The movement was begun here last Saturday and will continue indefinitely.

TWO FIREMEN DIE, 41 INJURED WHEN WALLS COLLAPSE

Roof And Walls Give Way Without Warning, Burying Many Men.

RESCUERS PLUNGE INTO FIERY RUINS

Three-story Structure In Brooklyn Burns With Loss Of $250,000.

New York, Aug. 21.—Two firemen were killed and 41 injured early today when the roof and one of the walls of the three-story building housing the New Plaza dance hall, in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn, collapsed as fire was sweeping the structure.

The building was an old landmark and for years was the old Masonic temple. About 50 firemen were in the structure fighting the blaze when the roof and walls collapsed without warning.

The old structure was gutted. Firemen had been ordered inside to extinguish the last remaining sparks. Then the crash came.

With a roar the roof went down, carrying with it one of the side walls.

As the great shower of debris came down, burying the firemen beneath the wreckage, those outside the structure became a maddening mob of rescuers.

Rescue Imprisoned Firemen

Firemen, police and bystanders, mindful of their own danger, plunged into the ruins. The rescuers dug and kicked at the debris to rescue the buried firemen.

Calls for assistance brought ambulances and physicians to the scene. As the rescuers dug at the ruins they soon uncovered many of the imprisoned firemen.

Hope had been abandoned for six men known to have been on the roof when it caved in. It seemed impossible that these men could have escaped from the seething furnace into which they had seemingly plunged. But one by one they reported to their comrades, their eyes full of sweat and grime as they begged for news of their comrades.

Many firemen escaped by their own wit and coolness in the fraction of a second that the warning of the collapse came. Others were dragged to safety by their comrades.

Two Burned To Death

Deputy Chief O'Hara, in charge of the Brooklyn fire force, was saved by his chauffeur, who dragged him from harm's way in the nick of time.

As firemen after fireman was rescued hope began to dawn that no one had lost his life. This hope was soon abandoned, however, when another rescuer digging at a pile of hot bricks, came across the bodies of two firemen. They had been burned almost beyond recognition.

The fire started shortly after midnight. The damage was estimated at $250,000.

Rotary And Kiwanis Will Hear Lecturer

Rotary and Kiwanis clubs postponed their regular meetings Monday and Tuesday this week in order to hold a joint meeting Wednesday noon at the Elks home to be addressed by Huber W. Hurt, chautauqua lecturer.

As a representative of the national council of Boy Scouts, Mr. Hurt is expected to give an interesting address on the subject of boys' work. He was formerly scout executive on the Chicago council.

Tinner Hurt Badly As Scaffold Breaks

J. L. Hum, tinner, of Columbiana, sustained injuries, which will confine him to his home for a time, in an accident about 9:45 a. m. Tuesday at the Knauff farm, between Washingtonville and Columbiana, where he was working on the house.

The scaffold on which Hum was working broke, letting him fall to the ground. A physician gave him medical aid and he was taken to his home.

"Jolly Girls" Of Lutheran Church Enjoy Camp Life

The Jolly Girls is their name and they surely are a group of jolly little misses. In their work, their aims, their play they are like the Girl Scouts.

These 36 Jolly Girls of the Emanuel Lutheran church. They aspire to be just like their big American sisters when they become older and they are setting themselves to the task of working to that end.

Twenty-one of the 36 members of this organization are in camp on the John Sox farm almost six miles north of the city near the Ellsworth rd. In a natural grove, beautiful in its settings and admirably suited to the purpose, they are enjoying the care-free life of a happy group, swimming, playing games, singing, and cooking their own meals when the chaperone arrives late.

A creek in front of their tent provides an excellent place for swimming and just across the creek is a flowing well of pure water. They keep their large tent in apple order and the grounds about it are kept free of tapers and refuse. And cook? The

TERMS JAZZ ABSENCE OF ANY BETTER MUSIC

Composer And Song Leader Gives a Delightful Program Of Songs Interspersed With Jokes; Not Tune But Way It Is Played Makes Music Jazzy.

"Jazz is the absence of better music. It is like dust on the carpet in the absence of the carpet sweeper or like dirt on the neck in the absence of soap."

This definition for jazz music was given by Geoffrey O'Hara, composer, singer and song leader, Monday evening at Salem's chautauqua when he gave a delightful entertainment of songs interspersed with wit and jokes, which kept the large audience in an almost continuous uproar of laughter. He was heartily applauded.

Mr. O'Hara was assisted by two artists: Misses Helen Jeffries, violinist, and Miss Marion Carley, pianist. Both young women displayed unusual talent in the numbers they presented. The audience was very appreciative of their classic work.

To illustrate his statement that it is not the tune that makes music jazzy, but the way it is played, O'Hara gave an imitation on the piano of a real "jazz hound" or "an ivory thumper." Then he played the same selection accompanied by Miss Jeffries, violinist, that his audience might detect the difference.

The audience was delighted when O'Hara sang "K K K-Katy," a song of his own composition. He composed it while a song leader in camp during the World war and it became one of the famous war tunes.

Then he gave imitations of the different ways this tune might be played such as on a little girl's music box, on a steam calliope at a circus, chimes on a church bell, the way Mendelssohn would play it as a funeral march, at a side show, as a waltz and as a fox trot.

Perhaps the real hit of the program was the song, "Get Up and Get Out," composed by the entertainer. It is a glowing tribute to the American flag and expressed sentiment that those who were dissatisfied with this country should return to their own country. This brought forth peals of applause.

Other especially pleasing numbers given by O'Hara were a song of his own composition which he sang while it was being played on the victrola, and one of his latest compositions, "I Love a Little Cottage." This was the closing number of this enjoyable entertainment and O'Hara was accompanied by his assisting artists.

The program presented in the afternoon was very enjoyable with selec-

FRIENDS YEARLY MEETING OPENED BY SUPT. MOSHER

Visiting Delegations Take Every Available Room In Damascus.

General Superintendent Samuel Mosher of Cardington opened the session of the 111th annual Ohio Yearly meeting to Gurney Friends at Damascus Tuesday by offering the initial sermon.

Much time was taken up Monday afternoon and Tuesday in receiving delegates and assigning the visiting delegations and the various committees to their particular duties.

Tuesday afternoon was devoted to a business conference of the ministers and elders of the church and a literary program for the others in attendance.

Miss Barker, who has appeared before Salem audiences, is well known for her ability as an elocutionist.

Later in the afternoon the young people went to Chambers woods where they had a number of games and enjoyed a social period.

After 3:30 p. m. Monday there was not an available room nor lodging quarters in Damascus or immediate vicinity. Until later in the week the town was besieged with visitors eagerly seeking sleeping and boarding conveniences.

A survey of every home was made and every spare bedroom was sought. Damascus residents claim this meeting is more largely attended than any of the previous 110 Yearly meetings. Friends from all sections of the country are participating this season.

ANALYSIS REVEALS WATER'S CONDITION

Reports to Health Commissioner T. T. Church of the analysis of the city water taken from samples during the last week reveal the presence of bacteria in the water and a though there may be no typhoid bacilli the report shows the condition of the water is not of the best.

Samples taken at the pump, even after chlorination, show mite bacteria, which is also found in samples taken at the High school and on Lower Broadway. A more generous use of chlorine has altered the condition at present, but the report reveals the true condition of the city water.

Barnyard Dietitian is Touring County

E. A. Webb of Columbus, known as the "barnyard dietitian" but who really is an expert on dairy feed, is touring the county in company with County Agent C. E. Rowland.

Webb represents the feed department of the state farm bureau, whose slogan is, "Know the truth concerning the feed you buy." The first meeting was held at Hanoverton Monday night. Tuesday night a meeting will be held at the Unity grange hall, near East Palestine and Wednesday evening at the Scrabble church, Butler township.

Picnic Is Postponed By Colored Masons

The colored Masonic lodges of Columbiana county had arranged to hold their annual outing at Eagleton glens Wednesday and had sent out bills advertising that date. On Monday officials were notified that owing to a mixup in the booking arrangements the date of Aug. 22 had been booked by another organization and they would have to postpone their picnic.

Officials are using every means to notify the members of the order and their families of the postponement.

MAHONING COUNTY ASKS COLUMBIANA TO CONNECT ROADS

Visitors Also Want Share For Paving Washingtonville-Salem Road.

ARE ADVISED THAT COUNTY IS BROKE

Help In Paving State Road To Alliance Also Asked By Mahoning.

Lisbon, Aug. 21.—(With Chairman John Kerr absent and Commissioners Pat McNicol and Conrad Berg facing comparatively little business, Mahoning county chose Monday to visit Lisbon in official force, raking up old road-building scores.

In the delegation were Commissioners C. A. Israel, David J. Morgan and Allen Shale and County Surveyor George M. Montgomery. A quizzical light shone in Commissioner McNicol's eye as the greetings ended. "What's on your minds?" he inquired.

Something On Their Minds

The Mahoning county delegation told him. It told him individually and collectively. There are two things troubling Mahoning. One was, Columbiana county owed Mahoning her share in the damages paid as a result of the building of the Salem-Washingtonville road in 1920. Having a written agreement to the effect that each county would bear an equal share in the expense incident to damage claims, Mahoning county had magnanimously paid the claims out of her own funds. Somehow, it seemed, no statement had been sent to Columbiana county—a bookkeeper's error, no doubt, they admitted. The commissioners had decided to come to Lisbon and see about getting their money back.

Another matter was the fact that the second purpose of the visit, Mahoning county added, was to find out why Columbiana county had failed to "meet" her on at least one inter-county highway. Mahoning, it was explained, had built splendid highways of concrete, brick and macadam from three directions to the Columbiana county line. In one instance only a mile of improved road was needed to link one of these highways with southern territory. Yet even this, Mahoning explained, had not been attempted. As for the other highways, they ended at Columbiana in dirt roads. What did Columbiana county intend to do about it?

How about agreements made in previous years? The Mahoning delegation sat back in solemn judgment—and waited.

No Money Available

On this subject, at least, Commissioners McNicol and Berg were in complete accord. They turned toward each other with ill-concealed humor and then face the waiting delegation. "Where would we get the money?" they asked.

This seemed to surprise the visiting commissioners, apparently used to ready funds. They listened in silence while Columbiana county's commissioners, added here and there by Prosecuting Attorney Jesse Hanley, explained why Columbiana county was not attempting to build more roads and why the prospect of helping Mahoning county link up its highways was still a remote event.

The Mahoning delegation in silence the statement that work on one highway had been virtually assumed until the retiring highway director of Ohio, Leon C. Horrick, withdrew all state aid and caused the county's road building bubbles to collapse.

Unwillingly the delegation nodded its several heads in grudging belief. It was convinced. Yet it could not resist another try. At last, its spokesman pointed out, Columbiana county might help on a road forming part of the inter-county boundary westward toward Alliance; the township in—

CUPOLA BUILDING DAMAGED BY FIRE

Spark Causes $3,000 Blaze At Plant Of Silver Manufacturing Co.

A spark from the ceiling resulted in some damage near a portion of the roof from the foundry room and the destruction of the northeast corner of the cupola building at the Silver Manufacturing plant at 7:45 p. m. Monday.

The amount of the loss is not determined, but the figure may reach $3,000, according to company officials interviewed Tuesday morning. The flames were discovered by persons in the vicinity of the plant and the alarm sent in to the fire department, which promptly rushed to the scene with additional equipment to prevent the conflagration from getting beyond control.

The sounding of the fire siren a second time notified the populace that the fire was of more than ordinary consequence and a huge crowd of spectators filled the streets for blocks surrounding the scene of the fire.

The cupola and a quantity of pig iron were the only things in the building, thus preventing further destruction.

YOUR GROWING GIRL OR BOY

I've often wondered if the man or woman who is fond of animals or flowers would permit them to grow with as little supervision as they give their children.The baby gets wonderful care as a rule, and the day tots are usually well looked after.But what of the girl of 12 and the boy of 14?Well, at this time they are growing into womanhood and manhood. Do you notice that as your girl or boy grows that they carry themselves properly?Is the spine straight? Are the shoulders well back and even? Do they eat sufficient vegetables, or do they fill upon meat and dessert?Do they get outdoors at all, or do they stay in the house and read all their spare time? Do they go to the movies every night? Have you as a mother taken your girl aside and explained all about the sex function?Have you as a father done the same with your boy?This important point is neglected or avoided by parents and the girl and boy learn about it often from improper sources.And it is just here that so much can be done for your girl and boy.If this time they are encouraged to get outdoors, to indulge in games, to go on "hikes," there will not be the time for introspection, and the tired bodies will seek rest and sleep.This is a recognized factor in preparatory schools for boys and girls of the teen age.Further, if you encourage your youngsters to get into games, to mix with other children their own age, they will overcome shyness, timidity, indecision and like things. They will learn to think and act for themselves, to have self confidence, and to give and take.PUBIC LIBRARY

Geddes' Attack On Ellis Island May Bring Changes

Sir Auckland Geddes and Ellis Island.

The vicious attack upon conditions existing on Ellis Island, the great immigration detention station in New York harbor, made in an official report to the British government by Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to America, is likely to lead to important changes in the method of handling the thousands of immigrants who monthly enter America through the island.

Court Asked To Decide Who
By Suicide.

Lisken, Aug. 21.—In a case filed here Monday afternoon, an interesting legal point has been raised that will attract the attention of the legal fraternity all over the state.

The case follows an attempt to settle the estate of Percy Patterson, of Andover, who ended his life with a shot gun on July 5 last after a long period of domestic difficulties.

The case is filed by the Columbus Life Insurance Company against Mrs. Gertrude Patterson et al, heirs of the deceased. The petition states that the company on July 7 received a request from Percy Patterson to change the beneficiary of a policy for $1,025, held by him.

This request was mailed on or about July 4. On July 5 he committed suicide. The change in the policy was made by the company on July 9 before it had learned of his death.

According to the rule the policy became due and payable on July 5 at the time of the death of Patterson, and as they had not received the notice to change the policy's beneficiary and did not know of it until after they had changed the beneficiary, they have brought suit to have the heirs of the deceased interplead their claims to this money in plaintiff's hands and ask the court to decide who shall receive this money and how it shall be paid.

DETROIT RAISES
STREET CAR FARE

Detroit, Aug. 21.—An increase from five to six cents for single fares on the Detroit street railway line, the largest municipally controlled street car system in the world, was announced today by the board of street railway commissioners.

The schedule provided for nine tickets for 50 cents. Transfers will remain as at present, one cent. The commissioners stated the increase was made necessary by the increase in wages granted by arbitrators a few days ago for platform men.

Catholics Improving
Church And School

St. Paul's Catholic church, which has just been repainted, will be beautified on the interior by refrescoing in two tones.

The parochial school has just been redecorated in the interior and a cement driveway will be laid between the school and the Sister's new home, which was recently completed.

OBITUARY

Sister Jerome

Word has reached here of the death of Sister Jerome, which occurred Sunday at Villa Marie, following an operation.

Sister Jerome spent a few years in Salem, having been housekeeper for sisters who taught in St. Paul's Parochial school and is well known among the parishioners of this church. The funeral was Tuesday morning.

LOST AND FOUND

By MOLLIE MATHER

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

"WELL!" exclaimed Priscilla despairingly, as she sat down on a fallen log. She was prepared now to accept Aunt Delphine's opinion that she was a "contrariously and unexpected creature." For surely her intention that afternoon had been far from being lost in an unfamiliar wood. Instead she had started early to be there in time for an overnight visit at a friend's home in Baytown.

"It certainly is, strange," she remarked to a bright-eyed chipmunk, "to be in such a buried location, with the sound of autocars running some place overhead. And I do believe," continued her meditation, "that I might remain here for days without being rescued." Near by a noisy waterfall tumbling from the miniature cliffs would silence her loudest cry, even if it might otherwise be heard. The sun sank, leaving the wood in golden shadow. Her absence would cause no anxiety, for Aunt Delphine, whom she was visiting in the village, believed her to be safe at Cora Winters' home in the adjacent township, for her overnight visit. Tomorrow they would look for her return.

"Hunger will be the worst," soliloquized Priscilla. "I dare say I could manage a night out of doors, on a pine-needle bed." She examined the contents of her overnight bag—a silk kimono, a pair of satin quilted slippers! To search farther for a way out in these lengthening shadows might be to become hopelessly hidden.

Helplessly she leaned against the tree trunk—and waited. As the shadows grew purple she went to the water's edge with her traveling cup to get a drink of water.

As she reached from her foothold on the flat stone something caught her horrified attention—caught and held it, unbelievably. Then Priscilla was running along the stone ridge of the stream toward the great huddled object. It was the hood of a turned automobile which had evidently been hurled from the rocks above.

Fortunately the car had landed in the soft mud bottom of the stream, but its occupant or occupants—The girl searched hurriedly and found him. There was only one. Whether he was seriously injured she could not tell; he was still breathing.

He had been thrown across the ridge to a cushion of pine needles on the bank. This, the miraculous saving, perhaps of his young life. There was an ugly gash across his forehead and a steady flow of blood from the arm doubled under his unconscious body. Priscilla worked hastily. She knew that she must staunch that flow of blood; the linen of her skirt was the available bandage. Her silk kimono made an emergency pillow; her sweater coat his cover. She felt very helpless as she watched beside the young man in the moonlight; there was nothing that she could do but watch and wait.

The dark head rolled presently upon the kimono pillow; Priscilla bent closer and cradled the head in her arm. The young man looked up with intelligent brown eyes. Priscilla smiled but did not speak. The injured one was slowly taking in the situation. His glance included even the hood of the car shown in the moonlight in its bed in the stream. Again he looked into the concerned, sympathetic face of the young woman who tenderly supported the aching head. Then he, too, smiled; it was a twisted smile, because of his realized pain.

"So," he said, "I came over the cliff—bang—like that. I knew I was going. Something went wrong—steering wheel. Hurrying along to see a patient."

His pleasing grin came back. "Somewhat of a patient now myself. Could you—that's right, help me to raise up a little. No bones broken. I thought not. Glory! Narrow escape. And you bound up my wounds—cleverly. Bled to death sure if you hadn't happened along. How did you happen along?"

Priscilla told him slowly, not to tire the aching head. It still rested contentedly. It seemed, upon her arm.

"We may be booked here for some time," the accident victim said, "but there may be one way of escape. At night young people often walk along the bluff overhead. If you could manage to get out to that stalled car—do you think you possibly could do that? You might work the old horn for all it's worth to attract attention. You can find your way in the moonlight," he told her, "and come back to me as soon as you can."

She came back one, two hours later, running, stumbling eagerly through the brush.

"They are coming to get you," she cried—"two men; they were going to fish farther upstream. Everything will be arranged."

Bob Thornton, physician, reached out his uninjured hand toward the girl whose anxious blue eyes searched his face.

"All right," he said, "Wait, with you beside me. Do you think you could hold my head again the way you did. And I hope," Aunt Delphine remarked one month later, "that Priscilla's mother will not blame me for her hasty love affair. I declare, she was engaged to Doctor Thornton almost immediately after they met at a village social, and after he'd recovered from an automobile accident. Acted like they'd known each other forever. But—then—Priscilla always was unexpected."

RADIO

(Edited by G. Douglas Wardrop, Editor of Radio Merchandising.)

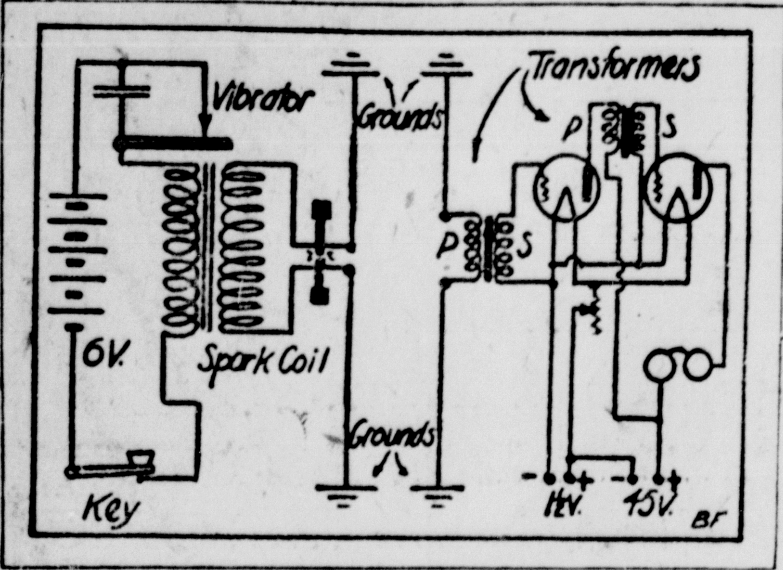

Fig. 1—Hook-Up for Double Ground, Spark Transmitter.

While the regular form of radio communication has been widely used in boy scout encampments, there are limitations which restrict its use to those scouts more advanced in the art. For instance, the wave-length regulations must be rigidly adhered to, and special licenses must be secured before the sets may be placed in operation. The "air" cannot be used indiscriminately for fear of causing serious interference with receiving sets for which the messages are not intended.

There is another form of communication which is suitable for scout camps and which is deserving of wider application. The double ground system has been little used in this country, although it was of immense value to the front line of the French army during the World War. The transmitter is so simple and well known as to require little explanation, for its most important unit is the well-known spark coil. This instrument has fallen into disrepute in radio to a great extent, not only because of its gruff and uncertain tone, but also on account of the poor tuning qualities of sets using spark coils. But with the double ground hook-up there is no tuning required, and since it is useful primarily for slow speed communication the low note is no obstacle.

In Fig. 1 appears the hook-up for a double ground transmitter. The terminals of the spark coil are placed a fraction of an inch apart and a wire run out in each direction, where contact is made with the ground. The longer these two wires, the greater will be the possibilities for distant communication, although if they are about fifty feet each code conversation may be carried on over distances not exceeding one-half mile. If insulated wire is used it may be strung on the ground, although if it isn't insulated it should be kept a foot or two off the ground by wooden stakes. The grounds may be in the form of iron pipes about four feet long driven deep into the earth; the better the contact, of course, the better will be the results. In fact, a short strip of chicken wire, buried a foot or two beneath the soil, is ideal for the purpose. No connection should be made to piping systems, for that would destroy the possibilities of longer distance.

In Fig. 1 is shown a simple receiving circuit. There is no tuning required, all that is needed being an audio-frequency amplifier. WD-11 tubes may easily be used, with two dry cells for lighting the filaments. This arrangement is indicated, and a single rheostat is used. The receiving arrangements are identical with those of the transmitting system as far as the ground wires are concerned.

There is an unusual advantage in the double ground arrangement in that it is directional. Fig. 2 shows a typical arrangement of double ground outfits at a boy scout camp. There are, let us assume, one headquarters station and four outposts. The headquarters station is equipped with four grounds, forming two double grounds.

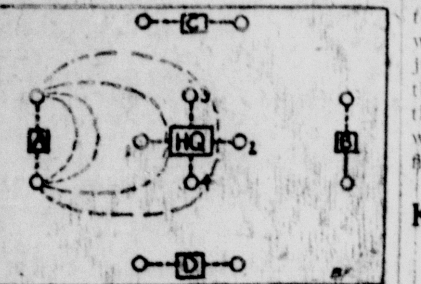

Fig. 2—Arrangement of Transmitting Stations.

With a double pole, double throw switch connected so that either may be used. First, suppose outpost "A" to be sending. On account of the high resistance of the soil between the two grounds, of station "A," the electric currents must of necessity spread out laterally in passing between one of "A's" grounds and the other. There is a considerable difference of voltage between the two grounds, as any scout who happens to get his hands on the secondary terminals will testify. Therefore, between grounds 3 and 4 of the "HQ" station there will also be a difference of voltage, on account of the great currents set up by station "A." The farther "HQ" is from "A," the weaker will be the currents, and the response in the telephone receivers correspondingly weaker. But suppose "HQ" were to switch over to grounds 1 and 2. What would happen then?

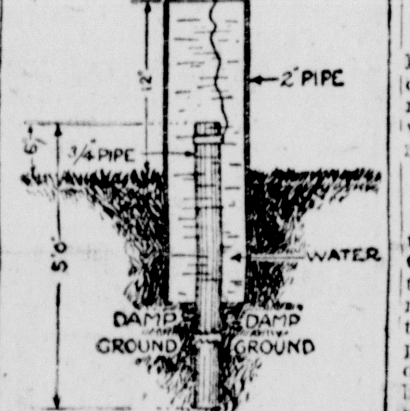

Since 1 and 2 are both on the same line to "A," there will be no difference of voltage and hence no signal in the telephone. How convenient!

But with grounds 1 and 2, station "HQ" is all set to receive from station "C," whose signals were excluded in the first case. "HQ" and "C" might, therefore, be carrying on a conversation, and at the same time "A" and "B" could start up and exchange some messages without bothering the other two at all. Of course, it is necessary to use the compass quite accurately, as scouts are trained to do, in placing the grounds.

To Have Ground That Will Keep Itself Wet

Most fans in hooking up a radio outfit either have a poor aerial and a poor ground or a good aerial and a poor ground. Almost always it's a poor ground. Here is a very simple way to make a good ground, one that will keep itself wet for a long time without having to watch it.

Secure a piece of galvanized pipe three-quarters inch in diameter and 5 1/2 feet long, also a piece of two-inch pipe three feet long. Drive the three-quarter inch pipe into the ground about one foot. Fill the pipe with water and let it settle, then fill it up again. The water in the two-inch pipe serves to keep the smaller pipe full all the time and also keeps the ground wet around the smaller pipe—Dick H. Roberts.

Your Receiving Sets Must Be Kept Clean

Cleanliness and neatness are important for efficient operation of a radio receiving set. Dust should not be allowed to gather on the instruments for it causes leaks in the circuit. Dust between the plates of a variable condenser develops short circuits, and collections of dust or soot on the antenna insulators make it easy for the radio currents to leak away to the ground before they reach the receiving set.

One operator noticed the signals gradually growing weaker. He overhauled the entire set, carefully inspecting all connections, but this failed to locate the trouble. He began to lose faith in radio. One morning while dusting about the room his wife just happened to brush the dust off the spiderweb coils mounted on top of the cabinet. That night the set worked to perfection, as it did when first installed.

Keep Storage Battery in Proper Condition

The following pointers will be helpful in keeping your A battery in proper condition: Do not allow the battery to become completely discharged. Always maintain the level of the electrolyte (acid and water) above the tops of the plates, usually one-quarter inch. Keep the battery well charged at all times, as it is difficult to revive a dead battery which has been standing idle for a long time. Do not allow the electrolyte to bubble over on to the tops of the coils. If this happens, reduce the charging rate. Keep the top clean to avoid leakage loss.

Determine the gravity range of your particular battery and keep it within proper limits by frequent tests with a hydrometer.

France Requires No License. The committee appointed by the French ministry of posts and telegraphs has recommended that no licenses be required for receiving apparatus.

Daugherty Not To Retire From Cabinet.

Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty is not retiring from the cabinet, nor from the field of American politics.

The attorney general has taken his stand by the side of President Calvin Coolidge, to stay in the post to which he was appointed by President Harding, and to give the same fealty to the administration that he would have tendered, had Mr. Harding lived.

Lisbon Notes

George Mason Surprised. Neighbors and friends of George Mason, residing west of Lisbon, held a birthday party in his honor Saturday night. The affair was a surprise. He was the recipient of many remembrances. Mr. Mason was 72 years old Saturday.

Water Mains Asked. Residents of Locust Grove, south of Lisbon, have petitioned the village council for an extension of the water mains to that district. The matter will be considered at the next regular meeting.

Rowland Back On Job. After having spent his annual vacation with his mother at Marietta, County Farm Agent C. E. Rowland returned home Sunday. Yesterday morning he appeared at his desk in the municipal building and began picking up the loose ends of the work of the farm bureau. Activities have been at a standstill for two weeks but with Rowland on the job the wheels will begin to turn again.

Leave On Auto Trip. Theodore Hogue and Hoyt Sexton left yesterday for an auto and camping tour in western Pennsylvania. They expect to be gone two weeks.

Britain's Sacred Shrine. Westminster abbey, the most sacred shrine of the British empire, is built on what was once a little islet in the Thames. In ancient days the river could be forded there at low tide and until London bridge was built the road from Dover passed through Westminster. In Roman days it was a civilized city with stately buildings and comforts and culture such as Saxon and Norman England never knew. It contained a Roman temple, afterwards used as a Christian church.

Salineville-Lisbon Bridge Is Closed

Lisbon, Aug. 21.—Motorists using the old Salineville-Lisbon bridge were warned today by the county highway department that the bridge has been closed and that for two days traffic will have to be diverted.
The bridge will be rebuilt, the contract having been let some time ago by the county.
In two days, according to County Engineer Kirk's office, a temporary structure capable of accommodating traffic will be erected alongside the spot where the new bridge will be built.
For the time being traffic may be routed over the Canton hill or over the Steubenville road, officials said.

BRINGING UP FATHER

LEETONIA

Mrs. Eli Stouffer and Mrs. Howard Cope were associate hostesses at an unusually interesting meeting of the Women's Missionary society of St. Paul's Lutheran church at the Sunday school chapel Friday afternoon when 20 members responded to the roll call.

Mrs. Thomas Leisch of Harrisburg was a guest of the society and Mrs. Charles Frederick was welcomed as a new member, coming from the Women's society at Wheeling. Following the devotional and Bible reading conducted by Mrs. William Spink, Mrs. Fred Floding introduced the lesson study for the day, "Winter Missions," which was discussed by Mrs. H. C. Brilhart, Mrs. Ira F. McJannet and Mrs. Anna Thrasher.

Brief reports were given by several members who had attended the summer school of church and missionary work at Lakeside, July 23-29. Mrs. Anna Thrasher was elected a delegate to the Ohio State Synodical Missionary society which meets in Mansfield early in September.

Following the program the ladies were invited to the dining room where a lunch was served by the hostesses assisted by Miss Pearl Cope. The next meeting will be held the second Friday in September with Mrs. C. J. Halverstadt, Mrs. Earl Halverstadt and Mrs. Homer Poppel associate hostesses.

K. of C. Picnic

The Knights of Columbus picnic was not held Sunday as scheduled but was postponed until Wednesday at Kelly's park when the program will be given according to prior arrangement.

Mrs. Lizzie Butcher, who lives west of town, entertained members of the Missionary society of St. James church near Leetonia, at a covered dish dinner Thursday.

Return From Colorado

Mrs. C. B. Johnson and little son Billie who had gone to Colorado for the benefit of her health have just returned and are now visiting in East Liverpool.

H. C. Ellsworth of Salem transacted business in Leetonia several days last week.

Society Gives Dinner

The chicken dinner given on Friday evening by the Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church of the church lawn was well attended and financially a great success.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael McTigue from Cary, O.

A party composed of Mrs. John Floding and daughter Miss Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Stewart and Arthur Spattholt of Leetonia and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Heck of North Lima, spent Friday evening with friends at Woodville just southeast of Leetonia.

Mrs. Sarah McIntosh of Franklin Square spent most of last week in the home of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Long of Leetonia.

Miss Sylvia Neitroun and father returned to their home here from Niagara Falls where they enjoyed several days last week.

J. H. Harold is visiting at McKees Rock, while Mary Harold is paying a visit to Salem friends.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Still one thing remains to furnish the house Beautiful, without which guests and books and flowers only emphasize the fact that the house is not a home. I mean the warm light in the rooms that comes from kind eyes, from quick unconscious smiles, from gentleness in tones, from little unpremeditated caresses of manner, from habits of forethoughtfulness for one another—all that happy illumination which, in the inside of a house corresponds to morning sunlight outside falling on dewy fields.

—William Channing Gannet.

SOMETHING TO EAT

Cookies are always an asset in any culinary department. The advantage of cookies over cake is that they do not become dry and stale if kept in airtight cans.

Coconut Hermit.—Take one-half cupful of butter, cream with one cupful of sugar, add one well-beaten egg and one cupful of coconut, three-fourths of a cupful of rolled oats which have been lightly browned then ground, three-fourths of a cupful of dates; mix well. Sift one and one-half cupfuls of flour with two spoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful each of salt and allspice and cloves, three-fourths of a teaspoonful of cinnamon. Beat well and drop from a teaspoon onto a buttered sheet. Bake twelve to fifteen minutes in a moderate oven.

Graham Pudding.—Take one-half cupful of molasses, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of cloves, four tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of chopped raisins, one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon, one and one-half cupfuls of graham flour, one-half cupful of milk, one egg, one teaspoonful of salt. Melt the butter, add molasses, milk, and egg lightly beaten. Mix and sift the dry ingredients, combine mixtures, adding the raisins which have been steamed. Turn into a buttered mold and steam two and one-half hours. Serve with any desired sauce.

Dran Macaroons.—Take one cupful each of flour and bran, one tablespoonful of butter, one tablespoonful of sugar, three-fourths of a cupful of milk, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one egg and a pinch of salt. Cream the butter and sugar, add the milk and the beaten egg, beat well and drop by spoonfuls onto a buttered tin. Bake ten minutes. This will make about three dozen.

Reduction In Prices Of Willys-Overlands

Toledo, Aug. 21. — John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company, caused a furor in automobile circles by his announcement of immediate price reductions and great improvements in the 1923 Willys-Overland line.

This action embracing a drop in price on the Willys-Knight touring car and roadster models from $1,235 to $1,175, F. O. B. factory, and on the Willys-Knight coupe-sedan from $1,595 to $1,550 came as a distinct surprise to the automobile industry and motoring public in view of the advance in price made by not a few manufacturers in announcing their 1924 models.

The Reason.

"I simply cannot stand the sound of a motor horn," said Smithly. "Why not?" asked an acquaintance. "Some time ago my chauffeur stole my car and eloped with my wife, and every time I hear a horn toot I think he is bringing her back."

ASK REV. DAVIS TO RETURN NEXT YEAR

Washingtonville And Harts
M. E. Church Report
Much Progress.

Washingtonville, Aug. 21.—The last quarterly conference for this year of the Washingtonville Harts charge was held in the Methodist church Monday evening. Dr. B. L. Geroge of Alliance, district superintendent, preached a short sermon and presided at the business session.

The reports given showed that the charge has enjoyed a most prosperous year. There have been nearly 60 members added to the churches during the year. The Sunday schools have increased in average attendance.

The pastor's salary was increased 25 per cent. Both churches on the charge have been re-decorated and the work entirely paid for.

The following officers were elected: Washingtonville church—Trustees, D. S. Klingensmith, D. R. Jackson, Walter Smith, Charles Taylor and John Davis; stewards, A. H. Jackson, Charles Sneddon, Jacob Parry, Theodore Riddle, Mrs. Samuel Taylor, Mrs. Ed. Frankford, Mrs. Charles Vignon and C. H. Dicken; communion stewards, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith.

Harts church—Trustees, H. B. Shelton, J. W. Groner, I. E. Aiken, Mark Shelton, Charles Sebrill, Watson Stewart, Frank Simmons and Warren Bricker; stewards, Mrs. J. W. Groner, Mrs. J. E. Aiken, Mrs. H. B. Shelton, Mrs. Frank Simmons and Mrs. Walter Sebrill; communion stewards, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Groner.

Walter Smith was elected to the lay conference to be held in Cleveland in September.

The pastor, Rev. C. C. Davis, was invited to return next year.

FIVE PRIZES FOR EACH FAIR RACE

Interest in the coming race meet at the county fair has been more than doubled by the action of the county fair board and J. A. Morrison, chairman of the race committee, in adding the entrance fees of the horses to each of the six big races to the purse of $400 that is offered in each race.

This addition has enabled the race committee to include a purse for the fifth horse in each race and will result in at least five fights for money. Horsemen and race fans all over the county have taken a renewed interest in the speed events at the coming fair and each contest will be worth going miles to see.

Before leaving the county seat, Mahoning's delegation sadly shook its head. As it spoke several heads in bewilderment. It could not understand as its spokesmen put it, as he climbed into his car.

"We've been building good roads across our county in all directions. We have four major highways running clear across from north to south and four more from east to west. We've been waiting for you to meet us, but you haven't done it. Why? You ought to be able to do what we have. You've had more state aid than we have had. ## LIVED LIFE OF LONELINESS

Naturalist Isolated Himself That He Might Have Opportunity to Study Habits of Birds.

On a lonely island off the coast of Queensland for twenty-five years, Mr. E. J. Banfield, naturalist and author of "Confessions of a Beachcomber" and other books, has died at the age of seventy. The crew of the steamer Inisfail, passing the island, saw a woman waving on the beach. A boat was landed and Mrs. Banfield was found to be the only inhabitant of the island. Her husband was dead. The crew made a coffin out of ship's timber and the chief officer read the burial service. Mrs. Banfield refused to leave the island, and the captain called for volunteers to stay with her. Every man offered, and the captain selected one to remain. Some twenty-five years ago Mr. Banfield acquired under the land laws of the Queensland government Dunk Island, off the coast of Queensland. This was an islet rather more than three square miles in area, inhabited till then only by the rapidly dwindling remnant of a once considerable native population, which has since, it would seem, entirely disappeared. There, with his wife, he settled down to live the simplest of lives and indulge in his cherished pastime of observing the ways of birds, beasts and fishes, and, while they remained, his black fellow men.—Montreal Family Herald.

KNOWN AS 'ELECTRIC GHOSTS'

Scientist Explains Action of Electrons, Fastest Moving of All Terrestrial Objects.

In an address to electrical engineers in London a distinguished scientist thus defined an electron. An atom is ordinarily associated with a charge, and force is required to separate the charge from the atom. The atomic charge when separated is called an electron. In an electrolyte—i. e., a substance decomposed by an electric current—there is a bodily transfer of atoms with their charges; in a metallic conductor the charges are handed on as electrons from atom to atom. In the discharge through highly rarefied gases the electric current is in its most simple form, for here there is a flow of electrons, traveling by themselves, of disembodied charges or electric ghosts. Electrons, it should be added, are the fastest moving of all known terrestrial objects, their speed being one-tenth that of light, which is 186,300 miles per second.—Washington Star.

Is Separation Right?

The French senate has voted to transfer to the pantheon, France's hall of fame, the remains of Renan, Edgar Quinet and Michelet. This is a high honor from the state. But in 1898 Michelet's wife opposed the transfer of her husband's body. She had been the historian's intimate literary helper—almost a collaborator—and knew all his thoughts. When the proposition was made to her she said: "No! He would not have wished it. He chose his grave himself—in Pere-Lachaise, beside his son's. Let him sleep there in peace." But there may be no one today to interpose a veto on the senate's resolution. If it also passes the chamber of deputies.

Biggest and Best.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Men's Social club had not proved successful. The committee in charge of the arrangements, however, were more hopeful of a better conclusion as the guest of honor was introduced by the chairman.

"Gentlemen," he said in a genial voice, "we have with us tonight one whom you all know very well, Professor Piffle, who has promised to tell us some of his biggest and best after-dinner stories.

And tremendous applause from the guests, the professor rose from his seat.

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen," he said, "when he could make his voice heard, 'To begin with my biggest story, let me tell you how thoroughly I have enjoyed your banquet.'"

Black Rain.

One of the services of science is in destroying superstition, and a notable example of this was afforded not long ago in Ireland. On an October night a fall of black rain, leaving inky pools in the roads, occurred in many parts of the island. It was noted at the famous observatory at Birr castle, and an investigation of the meteorological conditions prevailing at the time followed. The result was to show that there had been a movement of the air all over the central part of the British Isles such as carry soot from the manufacturing districts of England over the Irish Channel. Examination of the black rain showed that its color was due to the presence of an extraordinary amount of soot.

Soya Bean Bread in Austria.

Austria's experiments with soya bean flour in bread-making have proved successful, and this bread has become so popular that, according to the Department of Commerce, the output has increased to 10,000 loaves daily.

Three months ago the first experiment was made by a Viennese baker, who put out a loaf of wheat bread with a 20 per cent mixture of soya bean flour. Soya flour is said to be rich in proteins and fats, and its carbohydrates possess a sweetening quality which makes it distinctly agreeable. The flour is produced under a secret process.

The Court Sees Its Public Duty

"How good is your eyesight?" snapped the opposing lawyer, unexpectedly.

"Never had the least trouble with it," boasted the plaintiff, Jackson.

His suit for damages had been as good as won. The evidence had shown that he was driving carefully—under 20 miles an hour—and the other car coming out of a side street, must have been going at an excessive rate of speed, or Jackson would have seen it sooner.

Judge and jury were favorably impressed. But then came the question: Are you willing to have your eyes examined here and let us read the results in court?

"Of course I am," he laughed.

The test revealed 40% of normal yet for nine years he had been driving a high powered car through the streets we all must use.

COUNTY CLAIMS ROAD FUNDS

Failed to Conform to Highway
Building Program.

ALLEGED SLEEPER DISCLOSED

Suit Filed in Supreme Court to Determine Whether the Taft Taxation Act is Subject to Popular Referendum—Secretary of State Brown Would Amend Primary Election Laws—Strength of Ohio Banks.

Columbus, Aug. 21.—Following Governor Donahay's tour of inspection of gravel roads in Champaign county, it developed that the county commissioners of Champaign county hope to obtain possession of $120,000 state road aid which former Director of Highways Herrick refused to allow the county because it failed or refused to conform to the state road-building program as it affected that subdivision.

During a conference between Governor Donahay and Congressman Brand of Urbana it was brought to light that there was a "sleeper" in the appropriations bill passed at the last session of the legislature. The "sleeper" provides that any balance due counties from the highway department under existing statutes must be used by the highway director on roads designated by the county commissioners. The rider to the bill was offered by Representative John T. Brown of Champaign county and authorized county commissioners to claim their money after May 2.

Congressman Brand is an advocate of gravel roads and the controversy with the Herrick highway administration arose over this type of construction. Because Champaign county officials were committed to the Brand program, Commissioner Herrick refused state aid and the county was compelled to bear the cost of its gravel road construction unaided.

Some 100 miles of gravel roads were traversed by the governor and his party. Mr. Donahay, who also leans toward this type of construction, expressed himself as highly pleased with the trip.

State Highway Director Boulay voiced objections to allowing Champaign county the road funds, contending that the county is putting up no money to match it and that it would place the state in the position of bearing the expense of the county's entire road program. Boulay explained that his department was willing to allow the county 50 per cent of what its requirements were, provided Champaign county appropriate the remainder.

A mandamus suit has been filed in the state supreme court by the Cincinnati chamber of commerce to determine whether the Taft taxation act, passed by the last general assembly, is subject to a popular referendum or is exempted from the referendum by the constitution. The suit was filed in the name of D. C. Keller, president of the Cincinnati chamber of commerce, and asks that the state tax commission be compelled to furnish the Hamilton county auditor, city council, board of education and county commissioners with the forms and instructions for preparing their 1924 tax budgets, as provided for in the Taft act.

The real issue in the suit is raised in the contention that the tax commissioners, S. E. Forney, C. A. Horn and John R. Cassidy, "wrongfully refuse to furnish" the blanks and instructions "on the ground that said act has not yet taken effect." The tax commission's position is that because referendum has been asked, Keller's contention, not expressed in the application for the writ but explained by Representative Robert A. Taft, author of the bill, is that the Taft act is a "law providing for tax levies," exempted from the referendum by the constitution and therefore already in effect.

Chief Justice C. T. Marshall, after filing of the suit, allowed a motion for an alternative writ directing the tax commission to supply the blanks and instructions or to show cause Sept. 1 why they have not done so. Representative Taft and A. Julius Freiberg, vice president of the Cincinnati chamber of commerce, filed the suit as counsel for Keller.

An exhaustive study of the primary election laws of the state is being made by Secretary of State Thad H. Brown, with a view of submitting to the next general assembly a number of recommendations for necessary changes. Attention was directed by Secretary Brown to the primary election of Tuesday as evidence of the need of legislative action.

The situation is one involving large expenditures of the people's funds for primary elections which, in many instances, as was demonstrated Tuesday, are unnecessary. In not a few Ohio cities, it is reported, not a single contest was to be decided, candidates selected by the respective parties months before having been with opposition at the primary polls.

Such a situation existed at Cincinnati and in that connection Secretary Brown said:

"It cost the taxpayers of Cincinnati $36,960 to receive the votes of 11,027 electors, an average of about $3.35 a vote. Of the entire vote cast approximately one-fourth was that of precinct election officials themselves. "Another and even more illuminating situation was that at Youngstown, where the only offices for which candidates were to be nominated were those of municipal judge and assessors. There was not a single candidate for either office at Tuesday's primary."

"The matter was brought to the attention of the secretary of state some weeks ago. He asked the attorney general for an opinion, and the result was a ruling holding that the laws made mandatory the holding of an election even though no candidates were to be voted on."

"A taxpayer of Youngstown brought suit at this juncture and the court allowed the injunction asked for to issue in spite of the law on the subject, thereby saving the people of Youngstown $12,500, which would otherwise have been spent for the primary election needlessly."

It is to remedy defects of this character that Secretary of State Brown has set himself the task of going over the election laws. He cites countless instances where the laws conflict, overlap and disagree. In 1921 an attempt was made to recodify the election laws in order to remedy these peculiarities of the law. The bill was introduced but failed to pass.

One great source of trouble in Ohio, as Mr. Brown indicates, is the wide variance between state laws and city charter provisions covering elections. An instance cited is that of Toledo, where the charter provides that declarations of candidacy may be filed up to 25 days of the primary election. The state law provides that absent voters' ballots must be sent out 30 days before the election. The question was taken into court, but the verdict was that the charter provision was valid in spite of its conflict with the state law.

"Thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money can be saved by a revision of the election laws, particularly those dealing with primary elections," said the secretary of state. "It is my purpose to frame recommendations for submission to the next general assembly in order that these necessary and highly desirable remedial changes can be effected."

The wool clip in Ohio increased five per cent during the last year, according to report issued by Federal Crop Statistician West. This year's clip will amount to 14,300,000 pounds, compared with 13,600,000 last year.

Ohio is the leader in the production of fine wool, says the report, and is the sixth state in the Union in total production of wool of all classes. In the production of western range or "territory" wool, Texas leads with almost 20,000,000 pounds. Montana, Utah, and Idaho each sheared more than 16,000,000 pounds this year, although Wyoming, which a few years ago produced 26,000,000 pounds, fell to a shear of 19,000,000 pounds this year.

The total United States clip is estimated at 228,000,000 pounds by the United States department of agriculture—a four per cent increase over 1922.

H. E. Scott, state superintendent of banks, issued a statement declaring that the strength and stability of Ohio's banking system and continued increase in the savings of the people of the Buckeye state are "strikingly reflected in the tabulation of the reports made by the 748 banks supervised by the department of banks, under the call for a statement of condition on June 30, 1923."

"Not only are savings the largest ever recorded, but resources and deposits of the various classes exceed all previous records," Mr. Scott continued, "a showing deeply gratifying to the banks and the people alike."

Resources totaled $1,688,691,010, an addition of $62,942,107 over the call of April 3, an addition of $121,507,300 over the call of Dec. 29, 1922, and an addition of $206,986,269 over the call of June 30, 1922. Deposits totaled $1,456,844,231, an addition of $54,745,687 over the call of April 3, 1923, an addition of $118,340,180 over the call of Dec. 29, 1922, and an addition of $194,205,775 over the call of June 30, 1922. Savings totaled $673,986,773, an addition of $37,934,748 over the call of April 3, 1923, an addition of $49,505,081 over the call of Dec. 29, 1922, and an addition of $96,026,771 over the call of June 30, 1922.

While no official announcement has been made, out of Cleveland comes the news that former Governor Harry L. Davis of Cleveland will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor next year. Officials put into state office by Davis are already busy in his behalf and the former governor is reputed to be active in getting his followers together for the fight. It has been evident for some time that there would be no dearth of candidates for the Republican nomination for governor in 1924, but the effect of President Harding's death on the party in Ohio insures a free-for-all fight for it now. Former Governor Davis has the advantage of having once been governor and having the nucleus of a personal organization. He may not win the nomination, but leaders say he is certain to complicate the Republican fight.

GOES TO MISSION FIELD IN CHINA

Miss Girsberger Of Beloit
Will Sail Sept. 6 For Her New Work.

Beloit, Aug. 21.—The Friends' parsonage was filled to overflowing on Friday evening on the occasion of a farewell reception in honor of Miss Freda Girsberger, who will sail Sept. 6 for the Friends' mission field in China, where she will be engaged for the next five years as a missionary.

At the close of a short program Miss Girsberger was "showered" with all kinds of beautiful and useful gifts. Delicious refreshments were served by the missionary committee of the church and the Christian Endeavor.

Sunday morning, Aug. 22, a farewell service was held in the church for Miss Girsberger. The pastor, Rev. Doble, preached a splendid sermon on "Prevailing Prayer." Mrs. Carrie Chambers of Damascus, spoke briefly, and Miss Girsberger told of her call to China and of her joy in being permitted to go where the fields are white unto harvest.

Miss Girsberger will be the fourth member of Beloit Friends' church to go to China within the past four years the others being Rev. Carson Cox, Mrs. Carson Cox and Miss Ethel Naylor.

Vacation Is Forced Upon Sheriff Lewis

Lisbon, Aug. 21.—Like other county officials, Sheriff Gomer Lewis is too busy to take a vacation this summer, but his pursuit of the goddess of duty has forced one upon him.

At present he is on his way home from an arid little town in New Mexico, bringing a prisoner back by motor. The fugitive is W. R. Brown, who will face a charge of having stolen an automobile belonging to Bert Kerr of East Liverpool on June 28. Brown recently was arrested in New Mexico and held until authorities were notified.

He refused to return voluntarily and declared he would fight extradition. Prosecutor Hanley got in touch with Gov. Donahay and the result was the consent of the governor of New Mexico to Brown's enforced return.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN TO MARKET FRUIT

Columbus, Aug. 21.—Farmers of Ohio who use fruit and other goods, are expected to practice some direct co-operation through their co-operative associations this year, according to C. W. Waid, fruit and vegetable marketing director of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

A plan for using co-operative elevators and other co-operative associations for direct purchase of supplies of Ohio grown fruit has been drawn up. Under this plan farmers in sections where fruit is not grown in sufficient quantities to meet home demands will place their orders for apples and peaches through their local co-operative. The orders will be filled in carload lots directly from co-operative sales associations in apple and peach growing territory in the state where co-operative associations are prepared to fill the demand, Waid said.

WANTS TO HELP OTHER WOMEN

Grateful for Health Restored
by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I am willing to write to any girl or woman who is suffering from the troubles I had before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back always ached, so I could not go about my housework, and I had other troubles from weakness. I was this way for years, then my sister-in-law took the Vegetable Compound and recommended it to me. In the time I have been taking it and it has done wonders for me. I keep house and am able to do lots of work besides."—Mrs. HELEN SEVICK, 2711 Thomas St., Chicago, Ill.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the worth of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years this same sort of experience has been reported by thousands of women.

Mrs. Sevick is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

TRAINING SIMPLE MATTER TO FIRPO

Preparing To Meet Dempsey
Doesn't Worry Wild
Bull Of Pampas.

New York, Aug. 21. — A little job like training for a fight for the world's championship does not seem to worry Luis Angel Firpo.

With the fight less than four weeks off the "wild bull of the Pampas" got back to New York from his barnstorming tour and will hang around the city for a few days before heading off to Atlantic City to get in condition for the big bout of his career.

The fact that Jack Dempsey has been putting in some telling training stunts for the last few weeks did not seem to concern the Argentinian. He seemed more worried over the fact he was "done out" of $2,000 of his $4,000 guarantee in his bout with Joe Downey in Indianapolis Friday night. That bout came near having a fatal ending and for 24 hours it was not determined whether the wild bull's punches would have a serious result on Downey.

Whether the barnstorming trip has done him a world of good to condition himself for the stellar affair on Sept. 14 is a question fistic lovers are seeking to solve. The wild bull believes the trip he just finished provided the needed seasoning for his coming bout with the champion. He believes in meeting the second raters it enabled him to develop his boxing prowess and he opines that he will be in tip top form for the Dempsey affair.

But fistic fans are skeptical at the wild bull's claims. Never before in the history of the ring has an aspirant for the heavyweight championship postponed his training until a little more than three weeks before the bout. Challengers usually have taken months to prepare for such a bout.

Peruvian Petroleum.

Efforts are being made to develop more extensively the petroleum resources of Peru. The known deposits of oil occur on a very narrow strip of land between the foothills of the Andes and the shore of the Pacific, and much of this is flooded at high tide. Piles of railroad iron driven in the pure ocean sand, which varies in depth from five to fifty feet, are used as foundations for the derricks. The shallowest of the driven wells is 180 feet, and the deepest 1,700 feet in depth. There is very little gas, and the oil is very heavy, so that it can be put into buckets with shovels, and it is carried direct to the furnaces to serve as fuel.

DAVIS HAS PLAN FOR IMMIGRATION

WOULD HAVE ALL UNDESIRABLES WEEDED OUT ON OTHER SIDE OF WATER.

OTHERS TO BE REGISTERED

Immediate Going to Their Places of Destination Required—Investigation Shows Foreign Nations Send Us Their Unfit and Even Criminals.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—So much has been written recently about the immigration question that it might appear the subject has been exhausted, but Washington officials say it will not be exhausted until some definite and workable plan has been adopted which will be satisfactory to the countries and to the United States of America.

On the first of August there were 14,000 aliens on ships at the entrance to New York harbor waiting to be admitted to Ellis Island, which can take care of only 1,400 persons at one time. This means that many of the newcomers were compelled to stay on board ship from ten days to two weeks. This condition is the result of the quota law, which admits only so many aliens of each nationality each month and which causes a trans-Atlantic race between steamships of many lines, each striving to get its shipload under the wire before the quota of any one country is exhausted.

It is known that conditions are not altogether satisfactory at Ellis Island, but they are as good apparently as is possible under the present system of security necessary crowding. It is said that the hardest-worked officials of government are those on duty at the immigration station off New York City.

Secretary Davis Has a Plan.

In all that has been written about the immigration subject a great percentage of the words used have been put in the service of discussion of future legislation to regulate the admission of foreigners. Now a definite plan has been proposed by which a part of the Ellis Island force will be unnecessary.

Secretary of Labor Davis has a plan which will be submitted to the law-makers. He would examine all aliens at the country of departure and thus do a lot of weeding out of undesirables on the other side of the water. Further, the secretary would require that all newcomers should go instantly to their ultimate destination and that all of the admitted aliens should be compelled to register and for a certain time keep the government informed of their comings and goings.

Mrs. Muriel Lynch Crichton was sent recently to Europe by Secretary Davis to study immigration details. She has returned and, as one of the results of her study, declares that the present method of admitting immigrants on a per centum quota from the various countries is inadequate in that it permits admission of many physically fit but otherwise unqualified persons, while hundreds of others better fitted for American citizenship are barred simply because others managed to get in before the quota was exhausted.

One of the things which this woman, investigator has said is somewhat startling. She declares she heard abroad of criminals receiving suspended sentences on condition that they should emigrate to the United States. The fact, of course, that these persons were criminals was not made known to the American authorities. Because they were physically fit and could read and write and made promises of good citizenship, they were admitted.

Unit for Citizenship.

Washington hears much more about this immigration problem than the rest of the country because it is to this city that some of the problems must come for solution. Some of the officials of government who know the ins and outs of immigration matters say the country does not take the interest in the subject which it deserves. Once on a time most of the immigrants who came here were suitable for American citizenship, but now it is said the great bulk of immigrants are totally unfit for such citizenship.

The government has its problem because it cannot say to any one nation of the earth (except the Chinese, apparently), "None of your people are fit to live in this country." Some of the officials say, however, that it ought to be obvious to Americans that the people of certain countries absolutely are unfit from the American standpoint to come here to live. It is easy enough to keep out the sick but how can the immigration authorities determine by cursory examination that men and women temperamentally and mentally are not of the kind which we should welcome to our shores?

It seems likely now that some attempt will be made to have all the examinations of immigrants made abroad. Of course there still will be a check on them when they come to this country but after a corps of government employees, faithful to their duty, give the intending immigrants an examination before allowing them to board the steamships the chances are that the work at Ellis Island will be much less onerous.

ANIMAL EXHIBITS TO FEATURE FAIR

Many Entries In Live Stock Competition At Ohio State Fair.

Entries for the 1923 Ohio State Fair livestock competition substantiate the statement that Director of Agriculture Charles V. Truax, and State Fair Manager G. R. Lewis made some time ago, that they intended to stage the largest exhibits in the history of the fair at the coming show. Every department is well filled with excellent animals and each has some particular feature that is worthy of notice.

In the horse competition, three breeds will be shown—Percherons, Belgians and Clydesdales. The latter was added last year at the solicitation of breeders who were interested in these Scotch Drafters and so hearty was the response, that place was again made in the premium list for them. Entries are well up to standard in the regular classification, while the two new offerings, commercial and police horses, are replete with many high class animals.

The entire cattle department totals almost 10 per cent higher than heretofore. Breeds showing increases are Shorthorns, Aberdeen Angus, Herefords, Polled Shorthorns, Guernseys, Ayrshires, and Brown Swiss. Two of these, Guernseys and Shorthorns, set a new mark for Columbus competition. The management shows eight breeds of swine, and out of these, there are only two that have fallen below previous marks. A drive has been made this year to increase the size of this department. Ohio ranked third in the United States in this competition for several years, the lowest standing of any phase of Fair activities.

The one department in which Ohio leads the world is sheep and this year's exhibition is a culmination of several years of record breaking performances. Over 2,000 animals will be shown in the judging ring the week of Aug. 27, a mark that is almost twice that of any other sheep show ever held.

Outstanding among the 14 breeds, is the Spanish Merino. Half of the number of this sheep in the United States are within the confines of Ohio. It is, therefore, interesting to note that the world's largest breeder of Merino sheep has entered a flock for the coming competition. This is J. Blamer of

PESKY BED BUGS

Bedbugs lay an average of seven eggs per day. Under favorable conditions they hatch in five days of which two-thirds are females. They mature to adult size and are capable of laying in four weeks. How many bedbugs would you have in a year if you left one female or egg unmolested for one year?

To rid the pesky bedbug, you readily see how necessary it is to use a preparation that will kill the eggs as well as the live ones.

P. D. Q. has been demonstrated by the leading Hotel, House and Railroad Companies that the safest and most economical way to stop future generations of bedbugs, roaches, fleas and ants is to use the new discovery Pealy D. Q. A 5c package of P. D. Q. makes a quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas and cotes and at the same time destroy their eggs.

Impossible for them to exist when P. D. Q. is properly used. Free a patent spot in every package to get the pesky devils in the hard-to-get at places and save the juice.

P. D. Q. is not an insect powder, no muss or dust, does not rot or burn the bedding.

P. D. Q. for family use 5c. Hospital size $2.50 makes five gallons. P. D. Q. can also be purchased in sealed bottles, double strength, liquid form.

Genuine P. D. Q. is never peddled.

Sold by J. H. Lease Drug Co.

Twin Lakes—a Good Investment

IT COSTS you relatively little to own a beautiful lot at Twin Lakes and enjoy the most wonderful vacations the rest of your days. If you think of the investment side only, consider the following:

Northeastern Ohio is increasing rapidly in population and wealth, but it cannot grow any more lakes. When the present lake properties are gone, bidding for such sites as are occasionally put on the market will send all values to heights now unthought of.

Twin Lakes is the last desirable lake property in northeastern Ohio. The lake shore east and west of Cleveland for 40 or 50 miles is sold. All the other desirable lakes have been sold. It is a matter of simple logic that the price of lake property is bound to increase,—when there is no more for public sale.

Five or ten or twenty years from now your summer home at Twin Lakes will be worth much more than you paid for it; and you will have filled the intervening years with rich enjoyment. Here is an ideal location easily accessible, properly restricted, affording all outdoor sports including golf.

Come any time. Send for 16 page descriptive booklet in colors.

AUTOS KILL 5,312 OHIOANS IN DECADE

This Total Doesn't Include Victims Of Grade Crossing Accidents.

Columbus, Aug. 21. — Automobiles have killed 5,312 Ohioans during the last ten years, according to figures compiled by the Ohio Public Health association and the state department of vital statistics.

This total does not include victims of grade crossing accidents for they are placed against railroad accidents. Of the 5,312 victims, 4,033 were males and 1,279 were females.

In spite of this imposing toll, the increased fatalities are not keeping pace with the increase in machines. In 1913 there was one automobile for every 60 persons. Today there is a car for every seven persons.

The increase in number of autos since 1913 is 897 per cent, while the increased fatalities is 334 per cent. The death toll kept pace with the increase until 1917 but since then it has not been rising rapidly. Last year showed a slight increase and this year threatens a larger death toll.

According to the state figures, motor cars are reaping the greater part of their victims from the "productive period" of life—from 20 to 50 years of age. Youngsters from six to 20 form the second group; aged folk are next and babies last.

There were 132 persons killed by autos in Ohio in 1913 and 833 in 1922.

TIME IS EXTENDED FOR FAIR EXHIBITS

Lisbon, Aug. 21.—In response to a request from Deputy Homer Williams of the county grange of the county fair board at its last meeting extended the time for entries for grange exhibits from Aug. 15 to Sept. 1. Mr. Williams in talking to Secretary Marsden of the fair board, stated that he was certain that he could get several granges to participate in the exhibits by extending the time.

In addition to this, the fair board has arranged for a gate for foot passengers to be placed at the Prospect entrance to the fair grounds and it is requested that the people who walk to the fair ground, in so far as they can, use this entrance and prevent congestion at the old entrance on Lee avenue. The placing of a ticket seller and proper accommodations there will add greatly to the facility of handling the crowds.

THE FARMER'S NEW POSITION

By WALTER W. HEAD.
First Vice-President American Bankers Association

The farmer today is more than a tiller of the soil. He is a business man. Raising crops is only a part of his business, if he is a real up-to-date Twentieth Century farmer. Problems of marketing, distribution and financing are equally important.

The complexity of our modern economic organization makes it necessary for the farmer to understand and assist in solving these problems if he is to succeed. In this new role—as a business man—the farmer steadily has advanced to a better position.

There was a time when the farmer was dependent wholly upon private marketing agencies, whose interest was not always identical with his own, whose greed for profits sometimes out-matched consideration of the farmer's need. Today there are many great co-operative marketing organizations that handle a large part of the farmer's crop and win for him more liberal treatment from the private agencies which still handle the bulk of his production.

Today the farmer also has his own co-operative agencies of credit. If not satisfied with the terms upon which his local capitalist is willing to advance money upon a land mortgage, the farmer can go directly to the Federal Land Bank, which, by reason of tax-exemption and other advantages incidental to its governmental character, can loan money at a much lower rate of interest.

In addition, the federal government has established another group of banks which permit the local bankers—by rediscount privileges—to extend the farmer credit for his current operations on a more favorable basis than ever before. If he thinks his local bank is not sufficiently responsive to his need, this same legislation enables him to join with other farmers in a co-operative marketing association and arrange for credit direct from the government banks.

New Credit Facilities

For years it has been the farmer's complaint—with considerable justification—that he, alone of all producers, has been forced to market his crop on the buyer's terms because of his inability to use his products, in storage, as a basis for credit. Today the agricultural credits act authorizes the acceptance of warehouse receipts, on non-perishable agricultural products, as collateral for loans, the same as in the case of sugar or other commodities of commerce.

These developments have relieved the farmer from what seemed to be persecution by short-sighted, tight-fisted, grasping grain dealers, landlords and bankers—for there were some bankers who were guilty of this very thing, who thought of the farmer principally as a weak and ignorant opponent in a game whose only stake was the collection of a high rate of interest. The farmer's suspicion of the banker arose because of misunderstanding, because he judged bankers as a class by the derelictions of a few. Today, with these sources of government-controlled credit available at his call, the farmer cannot charge or even suspect that the bankers are conspiring to do him harm.

As the real farmer has taken advantage of these opportunities, he has made himself a business man. Like other successful business men, he is equipped with credit to finance his operations, he is able to make use of labor-saving machinery, he is able to barter with buyers of his products as their equal.

COMPULSORY THRIFT

In Kansas a group of power and telephone companies is trying a compulsory thrift plan, which affects about 1,200 employees and applies to every member of the organization from the president to the humblest day laborer. The plan requires that each shall save and invest monthly at least 10 per cent of his income.

Every month each employee must make a report to the general office of how much he has saved, and in what he has invested it. The investment must be approved by a committee competent to advise. Government securities, savings bank accounts, building and loan stock, payment on a home, even payments on furniture are allowed. If debts have been incurred, these must be listed and payments may be arranged on them, but no more are to be assumed. The idea is to make the employee live within his means and also lay aside something in a definite form.

Reports for the first nine months show that about 13 per cent of the wages have been saved, no single employee falling below 10 per cent. This amounts to over $100,000. Failures to report or to save brings dismissal, but in only two instances among the 1,200 employees was such action needed. Budget books are distributed and their use explained as a helpful method in establishing a working scale of living that will allow for thrift.

Total Eclipse Of Sun To Be Photographed From Plane

Dayton, Aug. 21. — Lieut. John A. Macready, who spoiled or helped to spoil a lot of French airplane records, is piloting a specially built plane to the Pacific coast by easy stages, where on Sept. 10, it will be used in photographing the total eclipse of the sun. Accompanying MacReady is Capt. A. W. Stevens, head of the photographic section at McCook Field and recognized as the expert in this line of work in the United States Army Air Service.

They left McCook Field Monday morning and enroute west they will make photographs of the scenic wonders in the Yellowstone, Yosemite and Oregon national parks. They will operate with Pocatello, Idaho, as their base and will also photograph Mt. Shasta, Mt. Lassen and other famous Rocky mountains.

The total eclipse of the sun will be visible only in the United States from San Diego, Calif. The total eclipse will last for a period of only three minutes and 36 seconds, according to the reckonings of the weather bureau experts. Necessarily Capt. Stevens and Lieut. MacReady will be required to work rapidly.

The eclipse will be photographed from the airplane at a height of about 18,000 feet or more.

The wings of the plane are larger than ordinarily to give the plane stability in the rarified atmosphere of the higher altitude.
